

Takahiro Suzuki

After graduation from the Faculty of Law at the University of Tokyo and study in the University of Malaya, Takahiro Suzuki received his MA in political science and futures studies from the Graduate School of the University of Hawaii in 1985 under an East-West Center grant.

He is a visiting professor at Josai International University, as well as being a special assistant to the Minister of Health, Labour and Welfare. Excellence, Osaka International Concept Competition, May 2003.

Before that, he worked for the National Institute for Research Advancement, Japan Forum on International Relations, the Sasakawa Peace Foundation and the Nippon Foundation and was then Administrative Director for Research at the Tokyo Foundation, a designated professor and deputy director of Handai Frontier Research Center at the University of Osaka and Director of the Think Tank 2005 Japan, a policy research institute affiliated with the Liberal Democratic Party. From 1991 to 1993, he was an adjunct fellow at the Urban Institute. He is currently also a visiting fellow and a consulting fellow at PHP Institute and a lecturer at Hosei University and an advisory member of Global Policy Initiative. He holds some other various positions and roles as co-representative of Japan School of Policy-Making and advisors for EBP Institute and Youth Conference. He was also Chair on Selection Committee for Student New Business Award, the New Business Conference Kansai in 2004 and received as a proposal partner the Award for He has authored more than twenty books including the Making of a Prime Minister, Creating Democracy in Japan—autobiography on think tanks, Think Tanks of the Word; Linking Knowledge with Public Policy, Creation of New Policy Formation; Think Tanks in Civil Societies, A Japanese Think Tank; Exploring Alternative Models, Citizen Literacy, The Way of Citizens to mobilize Politics Society, Policy Analysis of Japan. by learning from American